

Hey, trivia fans! It's time for [tipsy][team] trivia here at {location}!

I'm {host #1}, [[and that's {host #2},]] and [I'm your host][we're your hosts] as you play for trivia glory and fabulous prizes.

1
game

2
games

3+
games

We'll be asking you {# of questions per game} questions [today][tonight]. There will be {# of visual questions} visual questions followed by {# of spoken questions} spoken word questions - divided into categories of {# of spoken questions per category} questions each - and {# of audio questions} audio questions.

We'll be playing two games of trivia [today][tonight] - one starting right now at {game 1 start time}, and the next starting right around {game 2 start time} - and {location} is awarding prizes for both games! The slate will be wiped clean after the first game; that means you can play one OR both games. How long you hang out with us tonight is up to you!

We'll be playing several games of trivia [today][tonight], and {location} is awarding prizes for every game! The slate will be wiped clean after each game, so every single game [today][tonight] is a fresh chance to show off your useless knowledge and win some prizes for your team!

Each game [today][tonight] is going to consist of {# of questions per game} total questions. There will be {# of visual questions} visual questions followed by {# of spoken questions} spoken word questions - divided into categories of {# of spoken questions per category} questions each - and {# of audio questions} audio questions.

Each game [today][tonight] is going to consist of {# of questions per game} total questions. There will be {# of visual questions} visual questions followed by {# of spoken questions} spoken word questions - divided into categories of {# of spoken questions per category} questions each - and {# of audio questions} audio questions.

pub
scoring

pooled
scoring (static)

pooled
scoring (adaptive)

Each question is worth {# of points per question} points, for a total of {total points possible per game} possible points [in each game].

Each question tonight has a point pool of {# of points in pool} points that will be divided up evenly among the teams that answer it correctly; in other words, you'll be rewarded if you know stuff that nobody else knows.

Each question tonight has a point pool that contains {# of contributed points per team} points for each team that is playing the game. The pool for each question will be divided up evenly among the teams that answer it correctly; in other words, you'll be rewarded if you know stuff that nobody else knows.

[For each of [today's][tonight's] games, {location} is awarding the following prizes:

1st place = {1st place prize}
[2nd place = {2nd place prize}]
etc... for all prizes that have been set

Now before we get going with the game, here are the rules.

- To keep things fair, no electronic devices may be out during the round. And that's not just when you're with your team at your table. If you have to step away for any reason, please return with only your charming personality, and NOT with answers that you looked up while you were gone. Because there are prizes at stake, if it looks like cheating, we have to treat it like cheating.
- Don't shout out the answers; you might accidentally give answers away to other teams. Use your handy dandy notepads to share ideas with your team instead.
- Spelling doesn't count unless we say it does.
- Unless we say otherwise, when we ask for someone's name, we want their last name. Give us the first name, too, if you like, but just remember that if any part of your answer is wrong, the whole thing is wrong.
- If we ask for a fictional character, either the first or last name is okay unless we say otherwise.
- Our answer is the correct answer. Dispute if you like and we'll consider it, but our decisions are final.
- Be generous to the staff; they're working hard to ensure you have a great night. Don't be afraid to ask them for answers to our questions; they may know some that your team doesn't. I can't guarantee you'll be able to bribe them to actually give you the answers, though. That part is up to you.
- [I am][host #2 is] going to be coming around with [tonight's [first] visual round][the visual round for game #1], and that's your signal to put those phones away, because the contest starts now! Good luck!

- To keep things fair, no electronic devices may be out during the round, whether you're inside, on the patio, or out in the parking lot. If you step out, please return with only your charming personality, not the answers. If it looks like cheating, we have to treat it like cheating.
- Don't shout out the answers, otherwise you might accidentally give answers away to other teams. Use your handy dandy note pads to share ideas with your team if you'd like.
- We'll be asking you 40 questions tonight. You'll hear 20 spoken word questions plus 10 audio questions, and 10 visual questions. Each question is worth 10 points.
- Spelling doesn't count unless we say it does.
- Unless we say otherwise, when we ask for someone's name, we want the last name. Give us the first name, too, if you like, but just know that if any part of your answer is wrong, the whole thing is wrong. If we ask for a fictional character, either the first or last name is okay unless we say otherwise.
- Our answer is the only correct answer. Dispute if you like and we'll consider it. But our decisions are final.
- Be generous to the staff; they're working hard to ensure you have a great night. Don't be afraid to ask them for answers to our questions; they may know some that your team doesn't.
- Mike will be around with tonight's visual round, and that's your signal to put those phones away because this is the start of the contest!